"We want the education by which character is formed, strength of mind is increased, the intellect is expanded and by which one can stand on one's own feet."

– Swami Vivekanand

Education does not take place in a vacuum but rather it is located in a social space. The society to which education is imparted has a history, structures, institution, people, classes and values. Education involves a learning process. The growth of human being from birth to death comes within the purview of education. At the birth of a child, though endowed with innate abilities, yet he is ignorant of his social and physical environs which surrounds him. He learns about it gradually and gets educated.

In a short, education transmits knowledge and instills it in the bearer. Education has been institutionalized in the modern societies. It is provided with specific objectives through specially designed curriculum in the institutions according to one's level of growth. Though education of child starts from its inception yet formal education is imparted to the individual either in the school, colleges or universities. For tertiary level education as such, the meaning that any particular form of education as need to be understood is from the view point the users.

I am sure that the students, teachers and parents will enjoy the relationship with the trust and as well as Shree Swaminarayan International Gunatit Vidhyadham. Let us do our part with zeal and commitment in this noble profession called - Teaching.

Education is a blend, a synthesis, an amalgamation of forces that urge curiosity. Education is not always giving the right answer but is about asking the right question !

The Indian tradition has long espoused the cause of learner oriented teaching, guided by learner oriented teaching materials. If we look back in the wistory ancient Indian tradition, we shall find the importance and relevance of experience oriented learning that has been the hallmark of Indian excellence through the ages.

Every individual learner is divinely ordained towards a greater and larger purpose in life. Mere bookish knowledge is too small to measure and accomplish the gigantic objectives of human endeavor.
